Citrusdal is a small town in the Olifants River Valley in the Western Cape Province within the West Coast District, about 160 kilometres north of Cape Town.

The town is situated along the upper reaches of the Olifants River and is bordered in the west by the Olifants River mountains and the Cederberg range to the east. The valley lies in a winter rainfall area with low humidity. The hot summers and frostless winters make it a good area for citrus, which dominates agriculture.

Citrusdal is the centre of South Africa's third-largest citrus-producing area and accounts for about 14 per cent of the total crop. Apart from citrus, the fertile valley produces high-quality honey, rooibos tea and excellent wines, while the farmers also keep cattle and sheep. Irrigation from the Olifants River plays an important role.

Citrusdal is 'n klein dorpie in die Olifantsriviervallei in die Wes-Kaapprovinsie binne die Weskusdistrik, sowat 160 kilometer noord van Kaapstad.

Die dorp is langs die bolope van die Olifantsrivier geleë en word in die weste begrens deur die Olifantsrivierberge en die Cederbergreeks in die ooste. Die vallei lê in 'n winterreënvalgebied met lae humiditeit. Die warm somers en rylose winters maak dit 'n goeie gebied vir sitrus, wat landbou oorheers.

Citrusdal is die middelpunt van Suid-Afrika se derde grootste sitrusproduserende gebied en maak sowat 14% van die totale oes uit. Afgesien van sitrus, lewer die vrugbare vallei heuning, rooibostee en uitstekende wyne van hoë gehalte, terwyl die boere ook beeste en skape aanhou. Besproeiing uit die Olifantsrivier speel 'n belangrike rol.
